

LifeLoop screen casting

Screen projecting LifeLoop

Below are different ways to project lifeloop up on a TV screen.

Screen projection options

HDMI Projection (Recommended)

- HDMI connection is our most recommended option for projecting LifeLoop onto a TV.

Step 1

Connect one side of the HDMI cord to the computer and the other side of the HDMI cord to the back of the television screen HDMI port.

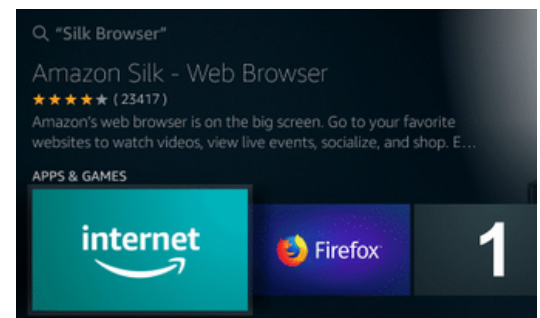

Step 2

Select input on the TV or TV remote to change the TV screen to the correct HDMI that the laptop is now linked to.

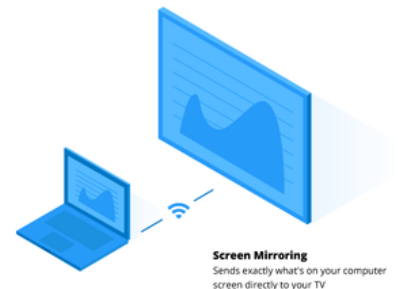

Smart TV internet

- If the TV you have has internet capabilities, you can access the internet feature and search lifeloopapp.com. Once you have logged into lifeloopapp.com on the TV web browser, navigation of LifeLoop will work the same as it would on a computer.
 - Please note different TVs have different internet abilities and instructions. Please check your TV manual for its internet capabilities.
 - Example: Amazon Silk internet (pictured to the right)

Screencasting/AirPlay (screen mirroring)

- If the computer and TV you have allow screen casting, you may be able to cast the computer to your TV screen.
 - Please note different TVs and computer have different casting abilities and instructions. Please check your TV and computer manuals for its casting capabilities.

Recommended content to display on a TV

Below is a list of a few recommended content items to screen cast or project onto a television.

Content

Play

- TV games
 - Family feud
 - Card shark
- Bingo
- Pub trivia
- Trivia

Play (continued)

- Word games
 - Piggy bankers
 - Weekly crosswords
 - Balloon burst
- Matching games
 - Color memory

Learn

- Discussion starters
- Art
 - Bob Ross
 - Wow art

Watch

- Classic movies
- Classic TV
- Videos > Broadway musicals
- Webcams

Travel

- Virtual Vacation
- Travel videos

Exercise

- Physical fitness > SpiroGo
- Brain fitness > Spot the difference

Relax

- Relaxation
 - Without sound
 - With sound
- Nature relax
- Guided meditation

Therapy

- Group therapy > large group activities

Listen

- Coro Singalong

Worship

- Coro FaithFirst