LifeLoop

LIFELOOP CONNECTION AUTHORIZATION

LifeLoop is a secure software application intended to help create a stronger connection between senior living community residents and the staff that cares for them. It also gives the residents' family and friends an easy-to-use tool that helps them communicate with the resident and community staff. These users are known as 'Connections' Some Connections use the whole spectrum of services offered by LifeLoop, some do not use it at all, and others will find only parts of it useful. LifeLoop allows them to remain active and engaged in the resident's lives.

Adding a new resident Connection in LifeLoop requires that the resident approve the invitation. LifeLoop currently provides the following tools to registered Connections:
- The ability to send messages to residents or community staff easily
- The ability to share photos with the resident and view photos of the resident taken by staff
- The ability to view the community calendar and activities the resident has attended
- The ability to make transportation and work requests to community staff on behalf of the resident*

In order to provide Connections with a valuable tool to stay connected, I hereby authorize the staff at my community to invite family members to connect with me on LifeLoop.

Sincerely,
